

Nicolas Delaigue is a concert performer and a teacher of Sitar and Classical Music of North India (Hindustani). He is today a reference in Europe in the performance and the teaching of this music. Due to his atypical path, and after years of full immersion, practice and total dedication to this art, he has succeeded in creating a link between India and west. Living in Lyon (France) since 2011, he have an activity of international concert performer - Europe, India, North Africa ... Nicolas Teach the sitar and the Indian music in public, private and associative structures mainly in France, and he is regularly invited in diverse cultural and educational centers for masterclass, workshops, educational support, jury member (Cité de la Musique - Paris, Higher National Conservatory for Music of Paris, CEFEDM Rhône-Alpes, Conservatory of le Grand Chalon). Holder of the French State Diploma of Traditional Musics, Nicolas has a deep experience and reflection on the musical pedagogy, and he teaches the sitar and classical indian music all year long to numerous students in Lyon, and in Clermont-Ferrand (Horizon-Adema school).